

Your Native Language

We support languages worldwide, and you can also use JetAdvice Manager in your native language. Working in your first language may increase your work efficiency, improve your internal processes, and result in a stronger connection with current and potential customers.

Our translation service provides the ability to easily communicate the usage and benefits of JetAdvice Manager with support in your native language.

JetAdvice Manager in familiar languages

To get a new language supported in JetAdvice Manager, it requires the translation of the texts for:

- The Application/Portal (app.jetadvice.com)
- The JetAdvice Data Collector; a service installed by the end user
- The Security White Papers
- Other available White Papers and datasheets can be translated at your request

JetAdvice Manager currently supports a wide range of languages and has been increasing the number of languages over the past few years.

Adding new languages is done with the help from our partners, on a voluntary basis. If you have a request for a new language, we are happy to review the business case under a few, but important, terms.

Your Commitment

When adding a new language, we need your commitment to translate necessary language texts in your language - for a minimum of three years ahead.

Amount of text to be translated:

- app.jetadvice.com around 1.800 strings
- JetAdvice Data Collector around 1.300 strings
- Security White Paper

The translation is made available to all JetAdvice Manager and Private Skin partners.

We have a process in place to make sure your time spend is minimized. You can expect full support from the support team.
